BISHOP CHARLES T. QUINTARD
First Vice-Chancellor

BISHOP FRANK A. JUHAN
Present Chancellor

1867-1947

To The University of the South the years between 1867 and 1947 have been years of growth and progress. They have also been years of adversity and uncertain survival. But however dark the hour may have been, Sewanee has never lacked the two elements most essential to her genius—men and ideals. Her high ideals have inspired some of the ablest men of our times; and in turn, these men have seen to it that the source of those ideals was sustained.

1867 and 1947 are mile posts in the life of The University of the South. At both times her magnificent spirit and idealism have been reflected and symbolized in the lives of two great bishops of the Episcopal Church in this country. Then it was Bishop Charles T. Quintard—now it is Bishop Frank A. Juhan. Together with Bishop Clingman of Kentucky, Bishop Mitchell of Arkansas, Bishop Carruthers of South Carolina, and Bishop Kirchoffer of Indianapolis, our Chancellor is now undertaking the most extensive solicitation by bishops in behalf of Christian education since Bishop Quintard's historic tour of England in 1867. From the time of the official opening of the Five Million Dollar Campaign for Buildings and Endowment in February, 1947, they have visited groups and individuals in towns and cities throughout the eastern United States, unselfishly giving of themselves in the service of Sewanee. Through personal devotion and sacrifice, these men are bringing to fulfillment those plans whose very endurance through the years has been possible only because of an equal devotion in those who have gone before.

A comparison between the services to The University of the South of Bishop Quintard and Bishop Juhan serves not only as a tribute to the work of these two men, but also as unmistakable evidence of the remarkable singleness of purpose in the unswerving pursuit of a great ideal which has characterized Sewanee from the first to the last. When Bishop Quintard became the Vice-Chancellor in 1867, The University of the South had as its assets the land on this mountain and the dynamic ideals of Bishops Otey, Polk, and Elliott. Nothing more remained of the work of these illustrious founders. All had been lost in the maelstrom of Civil War. The impoverished South was incapable of providing the financial resources necessary to put the University into operation. It was logical then that Bishop Quintard should take advantage of the opportunity to solicit funds offered him by his attendance at the Lambeth Conference of Anglican bishops in London the same year. Following the conference, with the assistance of a committee of prominent English clergymen and laymen and encouragement from the Archbishop of Canterbury, Bishop Quintard made an extensive tour of English parishes and cathedrals. He was well received everywhere, obtaining generous donations and creating an interest in The University of the South which remained a source of great value to Sewanee long after his return. But the immediate result of his efforts, a sum of $10,000, indispensable though it was to the University in its straitened condition, is pitiable when compared to the $5,000,000 confidently being sought today. The beginnings of the University were insignificant indeed in the light of its founders' magnificent dreams—dreams which all Sewanee men hope will find their consummation in the not too distant future. Today, as in the past, success is dependent upon those men who have had the vision to see Sewanee's great fundamental ideals and the courage to fight for them, even at great personal sacrifice.

It is most fitting that the Campaign should be in progress at this time. It will not only enable Sewanee to become physically the great institution it has always been spiritually; but it will also meet a very real and pressing need of today. The University of the South now finds itself with the largest enrollment in its history heavily taxing its existing facilities, both academic and physical. It is able to meet year to year expenses only with the support of alumni and friends through the Living Endowment. Its faculty and staff are underpaid, and its classrooms and dormitories are overcrowded. The future ability of The University of the South to continue effectively its program of a liberal, Christian education, so vital to the disillusioned world of today, may well depend upon the success of this campaign.

Gailor Memorial Dining Hall and Commons

Gailor Memorial Dining Hall and Commons, New Science Hall, completed All Saints' Chapel—these and the others must grow from sketch to stone. The ideals of a great university are not new to this place, the plan is sound and inspiring, and this year the campaign for fulfillment has gone forward with great power.

The direct aim of the plan is the realization of a top-rank institution with facilities for 500 undergraduates in the College of Arts and Sciences, 250 Sewanee Military cadets, and 75 Theological students.

Physics 7 (Atomic Physics) was not offered in 1912 when the Carnegie Science Hall was erected. That year the total enrollment was 128. When Cannon Hall dormitory was built in 1925, it won a national prize for architectural excellence, and that year the student enrollment numbered 342. Today, with 500 undergraduates, and with many qualified applicants regretfully turned away, Sewanee faces a great challenge. Plant and instructional problems confront the University. The need is compelling.

Part of the problem has been met by the re-erection of war surplus housing units. Palmetto Hall, a frame building rushed to completion last year, has made available more classroom and office space, but these temporary buildings do not provide enough space, and their life is most limited measured against Sewanee's traditional stone buildings.

Efficient operation of the University will depend upon the new building program for which $2,000,000 of the total $5,000,000 will be allocated. Gailor Memorial Dining Hall and Commons will fill a need of first importance as one large dining-hall accommodating the entire student body, while the new Science Hall will release Carnegie Hall for much-needed administrative office space and additional classrooms.

The abiding devotion of great teachers is no less today than yesterday the solid ground-work of Sewanee's genius. Not without personal sacrifice have many of these men come to Sewanee. Better salaries should be paid; a career of high service to the ideal of Christian education merits a comprehensive retirement plan, and academic grants for research and writing are mainsprings of academic excellence.

Progress toward the realization of high ideals has been the central element in the development of the University. Three frame buildings made up the entire University plant for the students of 1868, and St. Augustine's Chapel was one of them. The completion of All Saints' Chapel could not be undertaken in 1910, but in that year it was brought to its present stage of development. The site had been selected with great wisdom, for within a few hundred yards of where St. Augustine's stood, stands All Saints' Chapel today, and the War Memorial Tower of completed All Saints' Chapel will survey the same vista of beauty. Past progress has been slow, but it was carefully planned and is part of a grand design.

Excellent buildings that now contribute so much to Sewanee's beauty are the heart of the plan, and not one stone building need be torn down. The present library needs an addition, but its architectural integrity remains.

The service Sewanee gives is broader than that to undergraduates. Emerald-Hodgson Hospital's out-patient clinic treats 10,000 patients each year. Need for more space in the School of Theology is acute. While the College of Arts and Sciences through temporary housing has been able to take 500 undergraduates, the School of Theology

St. Augustine's Chapel

All Saints' Now

Carnegie Science Hall

New All Saints'

has not been able to reach its authorized strength of 75 students. The goal is $5,000,000—an additional $3,000,000 for permanent endowment, the annual income from which will assure for the University the finest faculty and staff, and $2,000,000 for new construction. This is our challenge. When Bishop Polk of Louisiana, laying the cornerstone of The University of the South in 1860, said to the 5,000 devoted persons gathered on this mountain, "An institution . . . that thereby God may be glorified and the happiness of man advanced," we cannot think that he meant less than the University envisaged in the plan, which can be actualized by the campaign effort.

We who are finishing our education at Sewanee feel the need because we live with it. We know the opportunity because the work of Sewanee has become a part of us.

The plan must be put into action by the campaign, which officially began on February 11, 1947, after months of careful staff work. The Associated Alumni voted to sponsor the project and selected the men for its overall leadership: Dr. Alexander Guerry, Vice-Chancellor, Chairman; Mr. J. Albert Woods, president of the Associated Alumni, Vice-Chairman; Mr. Charles F. Thomas, Vice-President for Endowment; Mr. Porter Ware, Campaign Director. In addition, a Special Gifts Committee was set up.

The community chairman is the keystone of the campaign, for he is the link between donor and drive. Some 230 men, leaders in their communities, are entrusted with this fundamental task. These set the campaign in motion in their localities at banquets, held throughout the South and in such cities as New York and Philadelphia, at which friends and alumni of Sewanee gather to make plans and begin work. Their work in securing donations has been supplemented by that of the Special Gifts Committee and by visits from the central coordinators.

Many of these donations are made as memorials. A donor may contribute for a building, a part of a building, or a room as a memorial to whomever he wishes; or he may give to the permanent endowment for the purpose of general income or to endow a scholarship or professorship as a memorial.

It is still too early to evaluate the success of the campaign. The task is great, but the opportunity is greater.

Brigadier-General
JAMES POSTELL JERVEY

In . Memoriam

Brigadier-General James Postell Jervey, a distinguished member of the faculty of The University of the South from 1926 to 1945, was born in Powhatan County, Virginia, on November 14, 1869. His entire life was one of devoted service toward the betterment of mankind. While at Sewanee, the institution to which he gave so much, he was loved and respected by everyone. We believe that the finest tribute paid to this grand gentleman was at the time of his retirement from the faculty in 1945: ". . . In his contributions to the Faculty, he always displayed clear vision, sound judgment, and understanding of our mutual problems. . . . In his relations with the students, he won their undying respect and affection, both as a teacher and a Christian gentleman. . . . General Jervey's closest friends have long noted his physical resemblance to George Washington and his spiritual kinship with Robert E. Lee. Like Lee he left the military to become an educator, and he brought to his new work rich experiences and resources. Of an older friend, General Jervey once inquired, 'What kind of a man was General Lee?' After a pause came the reply, 'A kingly man!' With equal fitness these words may apply to General Jervey."

PAUL SCOFIELD McCONNELL
A.A.G.O., B.A., University of California; M.A., Princeton
Associate Professor of Music and Spanish

Paul Scofield McConnell, to whom we dedicate the 1948 CAP AND GOWN, came to The University of the South in 1933. At Sewanee, Mr. McConnell holds the position of Associate Professor of Music and Spanish. His close association with the Latin American countries and his natural ability as a teacher have made him a very valuable asset to the Faculty of the University.

"Mr. Mac", as he is called by all of his students, has done much to foster the ideals of Sewanee. Always willing, always conscientious. Mr. McConnell's greatest contribution to the school he loves so much, and the one thing that has endeared him to the hearts of so many and gained him the love and respect of every Sewanee man since his coming, is his work with the University Choir. The singing of the choir and the part which "Mr. Mac" has had in training it have done more for the worship in All Saints' Chapel than anything else. His musicianship and ability make him a man of whom Sewanee is truly proud to call her own.

Chancellor . . .

Sewanee men everywhere realize that in the cultivation of the mental we must not overlook the spiritual. This, the greatest of Sewanee's ideals, is the reason that a churchman is the titular head of The University of the South. Bishop Juhan's dynamic personality, his most gracious manner, and his wise leadership contribute greatly to the never failing source of strength that Sewanee gives to her students and friends.

BISHOP FRANK A. JUHAN, D.D.
Chancellor of The University of the South

The administration of The University of the South is in the hands of a competent, tireless leader. Without such outstanding leadership the University would be unable to continue operating effectively. When Dr. Guerry came to Sewanee in 1938, he came to an institution that faced bankruptcy. Immediately our Vice-Chancellor, a possessor of lofty ideals, began his diligent work to remove the specter of want from the University. His work accomplished much, and now he is the leader of a stronger Sewanee, and a Sewanee that wants to expand. As chairman of the $5,000,000 campaign, he is directing the activities that will make The University of the South the kind of institution that was conceived of in the minds of its founders.

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

SAINT LUKE'S SOCIETY

The St. Luke's Society was first organized in the Spring of 1946 along somewhat vague and unspecific lines. After one year's experience, this vagueness was found to be more of a hindrance than a help, so the Society was reorganized with a constitution that more definitely set forth the aims of the organization, and the form that it would take in the future.

The aims of the Society are to integrate all of the various activities of the School, to strengthen the bonds between the alumni and the School, and to encourage the spirit of missions in the student body.

These aims are being accomplished successfully in many ways. All activities are carried out through a system of committees, the chairmen of which form an executive committee.

One of the primary functions of the Society is the sponsoring of various lectures during the year, the topics of which are selected by the student body.

The Missionary Committee has been one of the most active committees. It has planned many missionary projects. Many CARE boxes have been sent to Europe, the nucleus of a small library has been contributed to St. Mark's School, and the needs of other local missions are being met. Prayers are said daily in chapel for some specific missionary aspect of the Church's life.

Contact with the alumni is maintained through the publication of the THEO-LOG. This magazine, published three times annually, contains, in addition to alumni and school news, many valuable articles on topics of current interest. The establishment of this publication has been the most valuable and far-seeing step taken by the Society thus far.

A unique feature of the Society is a committee whose function is the betterment of the life of the School. It attempts to remove any friction that may arise in the student body. The committee has made many recommendations to the Dean concerning improvements in the School.

THEOLOGICAL CANDIDS

These few photographs will show the students in The School of Theology in their more leisurely moments. Because of relatively heavy academic work these men have very little time for complete relaxation and recreation.

The social life at the University is the type of which we are most proud. At all times and on all occasions the students have displayed those qualities that prove them to be worthy of the title, "Sevanee gentlemen." Visitors cannot help but remark upon the unusual courtesy of the students.

"The Cap and Gown have always been worn by the Faculty and students of the University. They are symbols of that high and pure learning which is the ideal of the University. The insignia carries with it definite privileges and responsibilities and is awarded only to upperclassmen who are worthy of distinction because of diligence in the pursuit of their studies. To the Order of Gownsmen is entrusted the maintenance of student traditions and the time-honored customs of Sewanee."

The Executive Committee of the Order of Gownsmen was created at the beginning of this school year by an amendment of the Constitution of the Order. It is composed of the President, Vice-President, and Secretary of the Order, one representative from each fraternity and one non-fraternity representative. It has the power to authorize presidential action, to schedule full meetings of the Order, and prepare the agenda for them. It hears all reports of standing committees and serves as a commission for general elections. It confers with the officers in an advisory capacity. The creation of the Executive Committee has added substantially to the effectiveness of student government.

Phi Beta Kappa

TENNESSEE BETA CHAPTER

Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society, is the oldest fraternity in the country, having been founded at the College of William and Mary in 1776. Its purpose is that of promoting scholarship among college students, and the prestige of Phi Beta Kappa is so great that its golden key is the most coveted award in American universities. The Chapter at Sewanee, known as Tennessee Beta, was established in 1926. An undergraduate who has completed five semesters with an average of 92, or six semesters with an average of 90, is eligible for election to membership.

Omicron Delta Kappa

ALPHA ALPHA CIRCLE

Omicron Delta Kappa was the first of all national honorary leadership fraternities to accord recognition and honor to the importance of extracurricular activities, and membership in it is one of the highest honors attainable by a student at Sewanee. It was founded at Washington and Lee University in 1914, and the Alpha Alpha Circle at Sewanee was installed in 1929. Only three per cent of the student body can be elected to membership, and these are chosen exclusively from the Order of Gownsmen.

B L U E K E Y

Blue Key, national honorary leadership fraternity, recognizes outstanding men on the campus. The members are chosen not solely because of their past record, but are selected for what they can do toward furthering the progress and best interests of the University and the community. It is essentially a service fraternity, and each year endeavors to complete some campus or community project.

Proctors, who form the necessary link between the Administration and the students, are selected each year by the Vice-Chancellor upon recommendations of the graduating Proctors and the Dean. In addition to maintaining order and discipline in the dormitories and checking Chapel attendance, these men are expected to aid in any type of emergency. Because the student as well as the University places great trust in these men, because the position is accompanied by heavy responsibility, and because the position requires the most competent student, it is definitely an honor to be appointed Proctor.

Each year Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges recognizes students from approximately 600 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada. In selecting students to be recommended, the campus nominating committee considers outstanding effort and accomplishment in academic work, extracurricular activities, and service to the University. Inclusion in the publication is a national honor and means an incentive to scholarship and service.

HONOR COUNCIL

The Honor Council is a representative group of students elected by each of the classes. To it is committed the maintenance of the Honor System, one of the most hallowed of Sewanee's traditions. It is the duty of the Council to see that the Honor Code, which is signed by every Sewanee man, is never forgotten or marred in any manner. Infractions under it are reviewed by the Council, which has the power to take appropriate disciplinary action.

Working upon the choice of a new social fraternity on the Mountain, the Pan-Hellenic Council has illustrated its importance on the campus by the moves thus far taken in that direction. This inter-fraternity committee, one of the outstanding features of Sewanee's ideal fraternity system, promotes better relationship among, and binds together, the eight houses on the Mountain. The council fosters and governs, to a great extent, the individual fraternity activities and enforces rushing and pledging policies for each season.

PAUL S. McCONNELL
Director

The service of the University Choir is essential to the traditional beauty and dignity of the daily and Sunday devotions in All Saints' Chapel. Under the expert direction of Mr. Paul S. McConnell it has attained an excellence seldom equalled by college groups. Each year the choir presents special programs at Christmas, Easter and Commencement. This year the Christmas program was repeated at Huntsville, Alabama.

Student Vestry

The Student Vestry is a representative body of students elected from the classes whose aim is the development of the religious life of the University. By acting as an advisory council to the Chaplain in expressing the wishes and needs of the students, and in aiding the Chaplain in his work, and by affiliating with the religious organizations and movements in other colleges and universities, the Student Vestry accomplishes its aim.

Acolyte Guild

In the Acolyte Guild all interested students have the opportunity for special Christmas service in assisting at the altar in All Saints' Chapel. The privilege of attending the Chaplain in the offices of the Church is earned through thorough training and proven dependability. All Saints' Chapel has always been the center of Sewanee life. Through their service to the Chapel the members of the Acolyte Guild make an essential contribution to the life of the campus.

Sopherim

Sopherim is the mother chapter of the Sigma Upsilon Literary Fraternity, which was founded on this campus in 1903 for the purpose of developing original talent in writing and for the recognition of such literary achievement. For membership, a student must submit an original paper to the society for acceptance. Submissions may be in any of the following categories: translation, poetry, fictional prose, non-fictional prose, and drama.

Helikon Staff

The purpose of Helikon, a publication conceived of, and edited, by the members of Sopherim, is to give to the more serious and capable writers in the undergraduate body the pleasure of seeing their contributions published, and to provide a certain enjoyment and stimulation to the whole Mountain through this medium. As well as at Sewanee, last year's Helikon was highly praised all over the South. It promises to become one of the really important features of University life.

DEBATE COUNCIL

The Debate Council is the governing board of intercollegiate and intramural public speaking at Sewanee. Reactivated this year, the Council originally grew out of Sigma Epsilon and Pi Omega, both debate societies founded prior to 1873. In more recent years under the guidance of the late Professor William H. MacKellar it contributed much to the University by providing speakers and debaters who gained for Sewanee its place in the first rank of Southern intercollegiate speech competition. The Council had an active year. It sponsored speech and debate teams which represented the University at home and away. It provided teams for the Tennessee, Southern, and National Championship Meets and revived the spring oratorical contests so long held at Sewanee.

The Texas Club has been reestablished on the campus of the University of the South this year for the purposes of forming and renewing friendships among the natives of the State of Texas who may be students at the University, of creating more effective cooperation with the alumni of the University who are now resid-

PURPLE MASQUE

Purple Masque, the University dramatic society, presents each year a selection of plays varying from the standard classics to the newer popular successes. Since its postwar reorganization in 1946, plays by Goldsmith, Sheridan, Wilde, and other well-known dramatists have been presented.

This season new spot and foot lighting fixtures were installed, and extensive improvements in scenery and dressing room facilities took place.

GERMAN CLUB

Upon taking office, the officers of the German Club serving the current academic year effected a thorough reorganization of the Club, which in turn has rendered many pleasant dances and week-ends in keeping with the "Sewanee tradition." Formerly composed of paid membership, the new organization provides for two men from each fraternity, two from the non-fraternity group, three officers who are elected by and from the Club, and a faculty adviser appointed by the Administration. This plan affords a closer and more efficient body than the larger uninterested group of former years. As for its purpose, the German Club is directly responsible for the production and success of University dances in that it not only engages the orchestras, but manages all equipment, finances, decorations, and refreshments for each function.

GORDON MORRIS CLARK

Director of Athletics

Under the able leadership of Coach Clark, Director of Athletics, the University has enjoyed a very successful year in all departments of sports. It was Coach Bill White, Head Coach, who trained his footballers so thoroughly that they were defeated only once during the entire football season. It was Coach Drake, a specialist in both track and basketball, who led his men through trial after trial triumphantly. It was John Kennerley, successor to the never-to-be-forgotten "Willie Six," who has taken care of his boys so diligently.

These men are expected to return to their respective duties next year, so there is no reason why the University should not count on having well-coached, well-disciplined varsity teams.

UNIVERSITY ATHLETICS

SEWANEE'S INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETIC POLICY

By ALEXANDER GUERRY, Vice-Chancellor

To give its students a sense of values is one of the chief objectives of a college or university. To accomplish this, an institution of higher learning first of all must itself have a sense of values. If a college or university in its own life shows clearly that it has no sense of values and that it actually is destroying a sense of values, it cannot possibly give its students the capacity for perspective, for discrimination, for differentiation between that which is worthless and that which is important, for true evaluation.

Subsidized intercollegiate athletics and, in particular, subsidized intercollegiate football destroy a sense of values. That's why it is evil. There is no possible relation between the prowess of a subsidized football team and the excellence of an institution of higher learning. And yet, among the colleges themselves and the public, there is a firm belief that a college must have a football team that wins from the best and strongest competitors, if the institution is to have the prestige it covets and deserves.

For this reason, the colleges and universities, especially in the South, buy the best football material they can get and are attempting to build their reputation on the success of teams composed of young men secured because of their ability to play football.

Second-rate educational institutions win prestige and standing not only among the American people but in their own eyes by first-rate, bought football teams. Thus, they destroy a sense of values among their students and for themselves. It is the most costly price that is being paid for glamour in America today. In the end, the young men and women are the chief victims. They are deprived not only of a sense of values, but of the advantages which they should have in college and which they do not have because their institutions and its alumni have centered their efforts and interests upon getting the finest possible football teams rather than upon getting the finest possible faculty, staff, library, laboratories, equipment, and facilities.

It has been proved by experience at college after college that the subsidizing of some athletes means subsidizing of all athletes. Whenever subsidization of an athletic sport is practiced, all who participated are subsidized. Those who are not subsidized do not participate. To maintain, therefore, an athletic sport such as football, a college pays all who take part. By reason of this, the idea of playing a game for the love of the game is lost. Thus subsidizing corrupts athletic sports. It destroys the whole concept of sports for sport's sake, sports for the fun of the game, and destroys, therefore, the fascination and value of a sport inherent in the sport itself.

Because of these things, The University of the South had abundant subsidization of athletic sports and has entered upon a program of amateur inter-collegiate athletics. For many years before the war, Sewanee subsidized intercollegiate football. At first Sewanee attempted to participate in big-time football, playing the best teams in the country. Then Sewanee, still subsidizing, began playing teams of her own approximate strength, hoping that a less strenuous schedule would bring about the participation of students without athletic scholarships. But the hope was in vain. Only one or two students a year came out for football who did not receive athletic scholarships.

With the advent of the war, intercollegiate athletics at Sewanee were abandoned for the time. When the war ended, the Athletic Board of Control, the faculty, and the Board of Regents voted unanimously to revive football and other intercollegiate sports only on an amateur basis, and to arrange a schedule of games with the teams of those colleges that held to the same opinion about intercollegiate athletics as Sewanee.

The University of the South is determined to give amateur intercollegiate athletics a fair trial. We believe that football is a great game. We believe that young men will play football, for the love of the game and for what they get out of the game. We feel the same about other intercollegiate sports. We believe that the time has come when the reputable colleges of the South should repudiate subsidized athletics. We are convinced, as previously stated, that subsidized athletics destroys a sense of values and corrupts athletic sports. By maintaining a program of intercollegiate amateur athletics, The University of the South hopes to make an important contribution to education and to athletic sports.

The Tigers opened their 1947 season against Presbyterian College in Clinton, S. C., by battling to a 0-0 tie with the Blue Stockings. It was a tough, hard fought contest all the way, and the boys in purple had to play good ball to break even with one of the best small college teams in the country.

Captain Reed Bell played the entire game, and the struggle was highlighted by his powerful drives and tackles. The defensive play of the team as a unit was outstanding. Tom McKeithen and Duff Green, freshmen members of the team, put in fine performances at wingback. Triple-threatener Chuck Flowers was also a standout, both offensively and defensively in the tailback position.

Almost the entire game was played around the midfield stripe. At no time in the game did either team press past their opponents 25 yard line. Penalties, however, forced the Tigers to kick once from their 3 yard line.

The Tigers moved into the win column in a big way in the second game of the season on October 11 by defeating Kenyon College of Gambier, Ohio, in an intersectional tilt, 40-0.

Taking the initiative from the beginning, Sewanee scored the first touchdown with a 20 yard pass from Flowers to McKeithen, who ran 40 yards for the score.

After a long punt by Flowers early in the second quarter, which put the Lords deep in their own territory, the Tigers took a return punt on the Kenyon 32 and drove to the 4, where Flowers took it over.

The second quarter was to see two more scores by Sewanee. The Tigers took over on downs on the Kenyon 40, and Captain Reed Bell went over on the fourth play. Next, Paul Uhrig, a transfer to Sewanee from Kenyon this year, intercepted a pass on the Lords' 45 and galloped to pay dirt, making the score 26-0 at half time.

Continuing their fine offense in the third period, the Tigers started off with a sustained drive culminated by Dudley Colhoun's 7 yard touchdown run. The last score came in the fourth quarter, after a ten-play, 53 yard drive, on a pass from Bryant to Tommy Lamb.

Playing their first home game of the year the Tigers defeated a powerful Mississippi College eleven 14-0. Most of the game was played in a heavy rain, which hampered the double wingback attack of the visitors. The Tigers were determined to avenge last year's defeat at the hands of the Choctaws and were "up" for this game.

Chuck Flowers returned the opening kick-off to the Sewanee 32, a pass from Flowers to Speake netted 11 yards, but there the Choctaws held Sewanee for little gain for the next three plays. Flowers was forced to punt. Jennings was unable to gain yardage as Smiles stopped him on the 15. The Tigers held Mississippi for two plays, forcing Jennings to punt. Breaking through the line, Smiles and Bascom barely missed blocking the punt and caused the kick to net only 15 yards. But again Mississippi College held Sewanee for three downs. Returning Sewanee's punt to their 41, the Choctaws for the first time entered Tiger territory with a pass from Green to McPherson to Sewanee's 47. Trying a repeat performance, a Mississippi pass was intercepted by Flowers on the Sewanee 30 and returned to the Choctaw 43.

Runs by Flowers, Green, and Bell, plus passes to Speake and Guerry landed the ball on Mississippi's 7. From there Bell scored, and Hamilton converted the extra point.

The first of the third quarter, Flowers on a neat off-tackle run made 30 yards, being pulled down on the Choctaws 5. Here Mississippi showed her strength again by holding the Tigers for no gain in four tries.

Being forced back to their one, Jennings attempted to kick, but it was blocked by Frank Watkins. The ball was recovered by Rosser in the end zone, thus bringing Sewanee's score to 13. On the try for the extra point, the pass from center was low and Hamilton, who had earlier connected, picked up the ball and a short pass to Guerry was successful.

When the Southwestern Lynx invaded Hardee Field on that cold October day, they were stopped short by a powerful, unscored-on Sewanee eleven. The Purple offense was built around a group of powerful backs, any of whom were quite capable of going all the way. Sewanee's versatility was shown by the fact that nine Tigers have scored in the last two games. On this, the sixteenth encounter of the two schools, Sewanee completely dominated the tussle with Southwestern failing to threaten seriously. The Tigers, the only unscored-on team in the nation, stormed back a Lynx kick-off following a safety to tab the winning points.

Sewanee's Tigers forced the Lynx deep into their own territory, scoring a safety as a result of a Southwestern tumble. The highlight of the game came as Captain Reed Bell took the kick-off, crashed through center, and weaved through the remaining Lynxes to score unhampered. Chuck Flowers' amazing 54 yard quick kick average greatly hampered Southwestern, keeping them backed to their goal. It was John Guerry's pass interception that staved off a late fourth period rally, making his record an interception in each of the first six games of the season. Southwestern's passers had a hard afternoon with End Neal Speake rushing them unmercifully. Guard Roy Bascom played the outstanding defensive game, keeping the center of the line secure.

Most of the game, following the first scoring flurry, was a fairly evenly matched skirmish, with runs by Duff Green and Walter Bryant furnishing the excitement. The second quarter was a mid-field duel, while the third and fourth quarters provided a variety of running and passing. The general strong defense of the Sewanee line was the prominent factor of the afternoon as the Tigers stood firm throughout.

The trip to Maryville ended in the Tigers' first and only defeat. Over eighty students from Sewanee were disappointed to see their team overwhelmed by the surprising power and deception of the Maryville Scotties.

Sewanee 0 Maryville 34

At the beginning of the game, hopes soared high as the Tigers held the Scotties to no gain. The Scotties were forced to punt. Sewanee lost control of the punt and the Scotties regained possession of the ball. From this point on, the Scotties were deep in our territory. Sewanee was forced to kick from their own 3 yard line. Maryville opened a powerful drive, highlighted by halfback Billy Fogarty's 27 yard jaunt. Shortly after, Leon Berrong pushed over from the Tigers one yard line to score the first touchdown of the season against Sewanee.

Sewanee gambled by placing Chuck Flowers, who had been injured in the Southwestern victory, in the game. The Maryville team's pass defense, however, was impenetrable. The Scotties regained possession of the ball and tallied on a 40 yard pass from Berrong to Clark. Bobby Boing, a Maryville fullback, scored in the same quarter on a 42 yard run.

The team looked good at the beginning of the second half, but never had a chance to retaliate. Hopes again rose high when Duff Green intercepted a Maryville pass and ran through the whole Maryville line, only to be stopped by the last man between him and the goal.

Maryville scored twice in the second half; once on an end run and once on a deceptive fake reverse and flat pass. Billy Fogarty was successful in four out of five kicks for extra points. The final score was 34 to 0.

The Tigers fully redeemed their loss to Maryville by pushing across two tallies in the first period, setting the stage for the rest of the game, and the defeat of the Millsaps Majors, 26-13. Sewanee took over on the 30 after a fumble and a short punt by the Majors. Tailback Dud Colhoun passed to Walt Rosser for 21 yards, and the first score. Ed Hamilton converted. Later in the first quarter, the Tigers took over the ball on Millsaps' 23. After four ground plays Colhoun bucked over from the 4. Hamilton converting again.

Another Millsaps fumble set up the third score, when Duff Green recovered on the 45. Two runs, a pass to Green, and a 20 yard pass, Colhoun-to-Rosser, in the end zone brought the payoff.

McIntosh broke loose for the visitors in the second quarter, scoring on a 28 yard slash through tackle. At half time; Sewanee 20, Millsaps 7.

The final Tiger touchdown came early in the second half, when after failing to gain on the ground, Colhoun threw another pay-dirt pass to Tommy Lamb. McIntosh again showed his heels, returning a Sewanee punt from his 35 all the way to rack up another score for the Majors.

Colhoun, Walt Bryant, and Captain Reed Bell carried off the back-field honors, and Roy Bascom, Jim Rogers, and Homer Smiles stood out in the line.

Sewanee came from behind to take Centre in the Kentuckians' homecoming 14 to 6. Centre struck swiftly in the first quarter, catching Sewanee off guard by a spread "T" formation and quickly pushed over a touchdown. A determined Sewanee eleven took the following kick-off and marched down the field. The passing of Dudley Colhoun and the running of Reed Bell carried the ball deep into the Colonels' territory, where Colhoun shot a pass to Walt Rosser who galloped over for the score.

Beginning the second scoring march, the Tigers took over the ball near midfield. Bell carried the ball deep into Centre territory, where Tom McKeithen carried it to a threatening position. Carrying the ball on three straight plays, Walter Bryant powered over to score. Hamilton added both extra points by kicks from placement. Centre came back to life in the fourth quarter and came dangerously close to scoring. Sewanee's line stood firm behind the leadership of Homer Smiles to successfully stop the attack.

In their last game of the season, on November the 22nd, the Sewanee Purple Tigers chalked up an impressive 32-7 win over Hampden-Sydney. This was perhaps the Tigers' best game of the season despite the slippery turf of Hardee Field.

After a scoreless first period, almost all of which was played in Hampden-Sydney territory, the Tiger offense began to click. Early in the second period, a Sewanee drive carried the ball to the visitor's 20 yard line, but the Tigers lost it on downs after a fourth down pass failed. Immediately afterwards, however, tackle Bob Snell recovered a Hampden-Sydney fumble at the 20. A line smash and a 1 yard pass from Colhoun to Rosser carried the ball to the 7, and three plays later fullback Reed Bell plunged over for the score. Ed Hamilton's attempted conversion was not good and Sewanee led 6-0. The rest of the first half was scoreless, although the Purple reached the Hampden-Sydney 25 yard line on a pass interception by Colhoun and runs by Bell and McKeithen.

Sewanee took the resulting second half kick-off and drove to a touchdown without relinquishing the ball. End Neal Speake returned the ball to the Sewanee 40, and two runs by Bell and Walt Bryant carried to the Hampden-Sydney 30 yard line. A roughing penalty and line smashes by Bell and Bryant put the ball on the one, from where Bell went over. Hamilton's successful place kick made the score 13-0 in favor of the Tigers.

The most beautiful run of the game came on the ensuing kick-off. Lynn Chewning, vaulted Hampden-Sydney back, took Rosser's kick on his own 12, veered to the left following his interference, and went all the way to the Sewanee 8 yard line before being brought down on a beautiful tackle by Bob Snell. The threat was ended, however, by a Sewanee pass interception. After an exchange of punts, one of which was Bell's 60 yard quick-kick, Sewanee had the ball on their own 46. From this point, they proceeded to score, with passes by Bryant and runs by Duff Green and Bell being the major factors in the drive. An 11 yard pass from Bryant to Green provided the touchdown. Hamilton again made the extra point.

Hampden-Sydney took the kick-off and moved the ball to their own 44 yard line. Chapman then threw a short pass to Chewning who raced all the way to the goal line for Hampden-Sydney's only score. After the conversion by Glascock, the score stood at 20-7. Hampden-Sydney came back with a late desperate passing attack, but these tactics backfired when John Guerry intercepted a pass on the visitor's 26 and sped over.

Sewanee's final tally came on a pass from Bryant to George Dotson from 20 yards out. Hamilton failed to convert after the last two touchdowns and the final score was 32-7.

WILLIE "6"

Sewanee men from all walks of life gathered at the Hampden-Sydney game to honor Willie Six, trainer of Sewanee athletics for thirty-nine years. Willie was ordered by the doctors last summer to retire.

At half-time ceremonies Willie was presented a plaque, a cash gift, and a scrapbook containing letters of tribute from over two hundred alumni.

Doctor Guerry, speaking for the University, said, "Your gentleness, tenderness, unselfishness, and consideration have meant so much to the men of Sewanee. This Willie Six Day is an expression that is natural. You are loved by those who have known you because you have loved them. You have enriched the life of the whole University."

Eugene Harris, who captained the 1924 team, presented Willie with the plaque and scrapbook.

The football team presented Willie with their own gift, a 32-7 victory over Hampden-Sydney, and the Tigers best season since 1909, Willie's first year as trainer. As the game ended, the boys, dressed in their muddy equipment, dashed to Willie, hoisted him to their shoulders, and carried him off the field.

This tribute is inscribed upon the plaque presented to Willie Six:

"For a period little short of forty years Willie Six has rendered faithful and loving service to the athletes of Sewanee.

"In that time he has set such an example of selflessness and of pure devotion to his task that he has left an indelible mark on the lives of all who with whom he has come in contact, and has earned a reward of love and esteem which has made his name and his person a legend not only in Sewanee but in sport circles throughout the South.

"Willie Six is a living example of one who, because he has been among us as one who serves, has made his life a real ministry. Of him truly will it ever be said in deep humility and sincerity by all whom he has served, 'You're a better man than I am Willie Six!'"

B A S K E T B A L L

With last year's team riddled heavily by graduation, the 1947-48 Sewanee cagers began practice in November without the benefit of many experienced players, and at least half the team had never played Coach Drake's "weave" before. However, as a result of many hours of hard practice, the Tigers were working together fairly well by the beginning of the schedule.

By the middle of January the Tigers had lost four games and won only one, losing twice to David Lipscomb, once to Middle Tennessee State, and splitting with Cumberland. However, each game was fought against a taller and more experienced club, and Sewanee had consistently exhibited a fighting team with many outstanding individual performances. Bob Brown sparked the team by his valuable follow work and excellent eye for the basket. John Jarrell, a fine ball-handler, consistently carried more than his share of the scoring load. Reed Bell and Ed Hamilton held down the scoring of taller opponents, and Lynn Wetherill pulled some notable tricks in every game.

At mid-January, with the greater part of a rough schedule yet before them, the Sewanee cagers face an uncertain future. But one thing that backers of the team can count on is that the Tigers, like all Sewanee teams, will put up a great fight, and no game will be clinched by either side until the final whistle blows.

LETTERMEN

When the practice games began these men showed great promise of producing the material with which Coach Bridges would build his successful squad. Each of the players presented here is a specialist in some phase of basketball; together, they constitute a hard-fighting, quick-thinking team. In the middle of the floor the team seems to be able to get their plays under way with great dexterity and coordination. Under the basket, it is the eagle eye and steady hand of Captain Reed Bell which has been paying off so well.

TENNIS and GOLF

The highlight of the 1947 season was the team's winning the TIAA trophy after a two day tournament held in Memphis. Strang and Guerry made it an all Sewanee final in the singles, with the former defeating his opponent in three hard sets. The doubles team of Strang and Stumb won the doubles to make victory more conclusive.

In dual matches, the record stands at six victories against five defeats. Vanderbilt and Emory beat Sewanee twice in close matches, and Georgia Tech proved to be the only team to completely defeat us. Starting against Southwestern early in April, an impressive string of five victories was rung up by Coach Bruton's players. A three day "swing around the circle" produced some exciting tennis and wins over TPI, Centre, and Kentucky. Just before leaving for the Memphis tournament, Middle Tenn. State and Western Kentucky State were taken into camp in fine style.

John Strang was elected Captain at the end of the season after playing a fine game at number one.

John Guerry played at number two spot, Billy Stumb at three, Black Hughes at four, Scott Irwin at five, and Duke Schramm at six.

With four lettermen returning to the squad and with several men who have served notice that they can play some pretty good tennis, the prospects for the 1948 season look very good.

During the 1947 golf season, Sewanee, losing their first three matches and failing to qualify a man in the Championship Flight in the Southeastern Intercollegiate Tournament, came into their own and finished the season with six match wins against four defeats, plus the team honors at the TIAC Tournament in Memphis. The team won from David Lipscomb and TPI, won their dual match from Emory, and split their dual matches with Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech.

Although only two lettermen, Belser and Rust, are returning for this 1948 season, Coach Cheston's men are expecting a very successful season.

Sewanee has gotten off to an early start with the track team. Good training makes for good performance. It is very early in the season to predict what kind of a team the University will have, but there are some very good prospects. Harry Douglas, an old timer among track men, will be the spark that will kindle the team to effective participation. Coach Drake has some fine material in such men as Jake Moon, Tommy Lamb, Bob Cherry, and "Big Boy" McWhorter, and with proper cooperation from all of the fellows he should be able to produce a fine team.

The "S" Club

The Sewanee "S" Club, composed of members of all varsity sports who receive letters, was very active this year. They conceived and carried out the plans for a day honoring Willie Six. At the beginning of the school year, a special meeting was called to discuss plans for this day. Charles Flowers, "S" Club president, wrote former "S" Club members asking their cooperation and support. The response was overwhelming.

The "S" Club also established a varsity participation trophy. This trophy is presented to the fraternity whose members take the greatest part in varsity athletics.

The "S" Club operated the snack bar at all football and basketball games.

Intramural Council

The Intramural Athletic Council, under the leadership of Athletic Director Gordon M. Clark, supervises Sewanee's intramural sports program, which consists of five major sports and various minor competitions. Teams are entered in the events by each of the eight fraternities, the Outlaws, and the students of The School of Theology. The Council, composed of members from each group, draws up the schedules and rules governing each sport and awards points toward the Intramural Cup to the winning teams. The Cup is won by the organization having the greatest number of points at the end of the school year. Great interest is shown in the program, which provides opportunities for sports' activities to those not able to participate in varsity athletics.

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

First flashing into the headlines with their 7 to 0 defeat over the Phis, the Sigma Nu's started their bid for the intramural title. Behind the passing of Gorden Warden, the Sigma Nu's displayed a tremendously powerful offensive. The punting of Tom Horsley presented a brand of kicking not often seen in intramural athletics. Backed by the defense of the Bradham twins, and the pass-snagging of Dick Hay, the Sigma Nu's offered a forecast for the season.

In the thrilling opening game of the season, the SAE's triumphed in a hard-fought game with the Theologs. Diffenbaugh of the Theologs and Jake Moon of the SAE's turned in outstanding performances for their respective teams throughout the entire season. Spark-plugging the KA's was Howard Logan, who displayed fine passing along with shifty running. The Sigma Nu-KA game was the most exciting and evenly matched game of the year. In this fine contest, it was Warden against Logan; each trying to out-think and out-play the other. Outstanding for the ATO's was the accurate pass-tossing of Bryan Rust, coupled with a hard-charging, pass-snagging end, Ed Ball. Revealing the power of the Delts was Ralph Roscher, who played heads-up ball the entire season. The Phis presented a hard-fighting bunch, led by John Shober and Raye Collier, both playing consistently good ball. Providing a back-bone for the Outlaw aggregation, Crews and Hume turned in creditable performances. The Kappa Sig's and Phi Gams dealt misery to their opponents by a tight defense and a threatening offense.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

The Intramural sports have assumed increasing importance in the athletic program of the University since the war. With so many students at Sewanee, the majority of whom are interested in sports, it is both necessary and expedient to have an effectively operating intramural program. Among the most sought after trophies is the one given to the intramural basketball winners. It is too early in the season to have any one team in mind as the top team, but there will definitely be an active struggle to the very end. Among those men displaying outstanding basketball ability are Mellon and Benners (S.A.E.), Snell and Ball (A.T.O.), Rogers and Keyser (S.N.), Diggans and Thweatt (P.D.T.), Roscher and Uhrig (D.T.D.), Logan and Shaw (K.A.), Gilchrist and Alvers (K.S.), and Hempstone and Reed (P.G.D.) All of the teams look good, and thus far the season has been a most interesting one.

Hit the showers.

Wetherill, DTD, receives first prize from Coach Clark.

Intramural Volley Ball and Cake Race

Volleyball, which in the past has served to fill in between football and basketball, has provided one of the most exciting intramural contests of the year. The Theologs, the SAE's, and the Phis engaged in a three way contest that was not decided until the last week when the Theologs defeated the Phi's and then the SAE's. The Theolog-SAE game was a thriller. The SAE's won the first game, but the parsons came back to win the next two.

Points toward the intramural trophy were awarded as follows: Theologs, 40; SAE, 20; PDT, 10; and KA, 5.

The final standings:

Theologs	9	0	1.000
SAE	8	1	.888
PDT	7	2	.777
KA	6	3	.666
SN	4	5	.444
KS	4	5	.444

ATO	3	6	.333
PGD	3	6	.333
DTD	1	8	.111
Outlaws	0	9	.000

The Sigma Nu's, winners of intramural football, also took first place in the annual Cake Race, which was run during the half time of Millsaps game. Lynn Wetherill, DTD, was the first to cross the finish line at the end of the 2½ mile grind, and is shown above receiving the cake which is traditionally given to the winner.

This race is run each year by all "Frosh," the prize of 40 intramural points being awarded to the team having the first five men to finish. Great interest is shown in the race, and the competition has always been stiff.

Martin and Collins
(Theologs) await ball.

Strang and Guerry in play-off for championship.

Badminton

This year the badminton championship was won by John Guerry from John Strang, the runner-up. Although this sport does not play an outstanding role in University athletics it is enthusiastically pursued by many students. The University has several courts which are made available to students throughout the entire year. Because it is an indoor sport, enthusiasm reaches its height in mid-winter.

Swimming

Because the University does not have an organized swimming team, this very popular sport has become an intramural contest. Each year the individual fraternities are represented in competition. Last year the swimming meet was won by the Phis who were sparked to victory by Bob Cherry, a fast, well-coordinated dash man, and Gil Lee, a well-trained, persistent long distance man.

This annual event is held in the pool which is located at S.M.A.

SEWANEE

The House Mothers (more usually known as matrons) at Sewanee hold a highly respected position in the life of the college. Theirs is the job of making the dormitories in which they and the students live a little more like home.

HOUSE MOTHERS . . .

They add a touch of the family life, serving as a kind of second mother to all. It is a difficult job, and they do it well.

The House Mothers' activities and influence is not confined to the dormitories. Sitting at the head of their respective tables in the dining rooms, they add a welcome touch and grace to the mealtimes.

Helping to settle everyday problems, serving snacks in their rooms, mending clothes and sewing on buttons for the boys, and with a kind and cheerful word for all, Sewanee's House Mothers are both loved and respected.
